

As Daventry's business community continues to grow, employing the right staff is now more vital than ever.

As business in Daventry continues to increase, the emphasis on finding the right staff has never been greater. This is reflected in the growth of Premiere People, the longest established agency in the town.

Branch Manager, Tracey Porter explains "as an Investor in People we believe in continually working to develop and grow our people. I believe this is why we have excellent retention of our own staff, which is not typical within the industry. With a strong team, we have developed a loyal and ever increasing client list that benefits from Premiere's flexible staffing solutions. We have friendly and experienced staff available to help from 8am to 6pm Monday to Friday plus our out of hours service continues to provide support 24hrs a day, 7 days a week"

Based in high profile offices in the town centre, the national agency has rapidly become the first choice for local companies seeking to recruit quality temporary or permanent staff. Paula Richardson joins the Permanent division which provides experienced and quality Permanent candidates in a variety of roles including sales, customer service, accounts and administration.

As business in Daventry continues to flourish, the need for quality, experienced and reliable staff is increasingly vital, making the service Premiere is able to supply all the more invaluable. The agency is able to attract candidates through several sources including various internet sites, open days and media advertising, yet the best source is the people of the town themselves.

Tracey says "we have listened to our candidates when interviewing them, ensuring we are meeting their expectations with regards to the positions we put them forward to. We must be doing something right because our most successful way of sourcing new people is by word of mouth!"

"Importantly, Premiere People now fully employs its workers, entitling them to the same rights as a permanent employee. In the past temporary workers have been known to instigate tribunals against companies over issues such as unfair dismissal and redundancy disputes." "As the workers are now employed by Premiere People, much responsibility is taken away from the companies where we supply our temporary staff. Also, our clients still have the same flexibility over booking staff and the duration of the contracts, and still receive the professional service they have come to expect from us." Tracey added.

Specialising in sectors ranging from Office, Industrial, Catering and Occupational Health, Premiere People is able to offer its service to the majority of companies throughout the area.

If your company currently uses temporary staff, or if you have a permanent vacancy and would like to learn more about how Premiere People's approach can help you, please contact the office below:
